Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Mehrangarh Fort

Rising perpendicular and impregnable from a hill which is 125 metres above Jodhpur's skyline is the Mehrangarh Fort. This historic fort is one of the most famous in India and is packed with history and legends. Mehrangarh Fort still bears the imprints of cannonball attacks courtesy the armies of Jaipur on its second gate.

Khejarla Fort

Located 85 kilometres from the main city, the 400-year old Khejarla Fort is situated in a rural setting. The stunning red sandstone monument, now a hotel, is an example of Rajput architecture. Visitors will be mesmerised by the fort's picturesque settings, latticework friezes and intricate Jharokas.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Umaid Bhawan palace

Umaid Bhawan Palace was built by Maharaja Umaid Singh in 1929 to counter a famine which had hit the state at the time. It was also known as the Chittar Palace while being constructed. The palace was designed by HV Lanchester, a renowned British architect, and was completed in 16 years. Built with sandstone and marble, the architecture of the palace is described as a blend of Indo-Saracenic, Classical Revival and Western Art Deco styles.

Moti Mahal

Moti Mahal, as the name suggests, is the Pearl Hall where the royal families held their audience. The hall is known to have glass windows and five nooks that enabled the queens to listen to the proceedings taking place in the Sringar Chowki, The Royal Throne of Jodhpur.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Sheesh Mahal

Situated within the compound of Mehrangarh Fort is the glass palace of Jodhpur, popularly known as Sheesh Mahal. This magnificent piece of architecture is adorned with walls of mirror work that stretch across ceilings and to the floors. It is superimposed by the mirror work of brightly painted religious figures cast in plaster.

Phool Mahal

Going by the name, the Phool Mahal or Flower Hall is the most exorbitant of all the halls in the palace. This beautiful chamber is said to be the pleasure dome for the Maharajas. The gold used for constructing the Mahal came from Ahmedabad, Gujarat.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Ranisar Padamsar

Located near the Fateh Pole in Mehrangarh, the Ranisar and Padmasar are adjacent lakes that were constructed in the year 1459. Ranisar Lake was built on orders of Queen Jasmade Hadi, Rao Jodha's wife while Padmasar Lake was ordered by Queen Padmini of Rao Ganga, daughter of Rana Sanga of Mewar.

Jodhpur Government Museum

The government museum, located in Umaid Garden, houses a rich collection of relics including armoury, textiles, local art and crafts, miniature paintings, portraits of rulers, manuscripts and images of the Jain Tirthankaras. Wildlife lovers can also visit the zoo, which is located close by.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Jaswant Thada

This milky white memorial built towards the end of the 19th century as a tribute to the leader Jaswant Singh is a huge tourist attraction. Jaswant Singh, who ruled Jodhpur, invested well in his state. He made attempts to bring down the level of crime, subdue dacoits, built railways and broadly worked on raising the economy of Marwar.

Ghanta Ghar

Ghanta Ghar, also known as the clock tower of Rajasthan, is situated in one of the busiest areas of Jodhpur, the Sadar Bazaar. It was constructed by Shri Sardar Singh Ji of Jodhpur. The Sadar Market is quite popular among tourists, who throng the streets to purchase Rajasthani textiles, clay figurines, miniature camels and elephants, marble inlay work and classic silver jewellery.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Sardar samand lake & Palace

Built on the banks of the Sardar Samand Lake by Maharaja Umaid Singh in 1933, the Sardar Samand Lake Palace is a spectacular hunting lodge. It remains the royal family's favourite retreat and houses a vast collection of African trophies and original watercolour paintings.

Masuria Hills

Masuria garden is one of the three most beautiful and famous gardens of Rajasthan. Located on top of the Masuria hill in the middle of Jodhpur, it is popular among devotees because of the centuries-old temple dedicated to a local deity, Baba Ramdev. There is a restaurant located here which offers a stunning panoramic view of the city.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Balsamand Lake

Balsamand Lake is about 5 kilometres from Jodhpur on the Jodhpur-Mandore Road. Built in 1159 AD, it was planned as a water reservoir to cater to Mandore. The Balsamand Lake Palace was built on its shore later as a summer palace. It is surrounded by lush green gardens that house groves of trees such as mango, papaya, pomegranate, guava and plum.

Guda Village

Guda, a Bishnoi village, is home to a vivid range of exotic wildlife and nature. It is a habitat for thousands of migratory birds in the area. One can often catch the Demoiselle crane frolicking at the lake. Antelopes and black bucks can also be spotted by the pond. This place is a must-visit for nature lovers.

Places to Visit in Jodhpur

Mehrangarh Fort & Museum

Mehrangarh, the fort of Jodhpur, crowns a rocky hill that rises 400 feet above the surrounding plain and appears both to command and to meld with the landscape. One of the largest forts in Rajasthan, it contains fine palaces and preserves in its museum many priceless relics of Indian courtly life. Jodhpur is named after its founder Rao Jodha, a fifteenth-century chief of the Rathore clan. In 1459, Rao Jodha (r. 1438-89) began to build a new fort six miles to the south of Mandore, his then capital.

Chokhelao Bagh & Interpretation Center

Visit the Chokhelao Bagh which sits at the foot of the Mehrangarh Fort. This over two hundred-year-old garden, complete with the scents, sounds, and textures of a garden of the eighteenth century Marwar has been turned into a Botanical Museum by the Mehrangarh Museum Trust by planting and in-situ displaying, exquisite endemically historic flora of Marwar region.

Thing to Do

Khimsar Sand dunes - Recommended for exclusive desert getaways

- Khimsar Sand Dunes is an experiential desert camp located at a distance of 6 kms from Khimsar Fort (90 kms from Jodhpur), Rajasthan in the heart of the seven dunes of Akla.
- Spread over 60 acres surrounded by sand dunes and a water body in the centre.

Things to Do

Bishnoi Village Safari

- Living on the fringes of the Thar desert at a distance of 30 kilometers from Jodhpur, Bishnoi is an extraordinary community of 'tree huggers', ardent Nature lovers and the earliest environmentalists in the state.
- The safari includes a packed lunch and open jeep drive to the villages where guests can observe the lifestyle of the Bishnoi people and interact with them.
- There's plenty to learn and soak in, from the potters' village of Singhasini to rustic refreshments, souvenir shopping for colourful dhurries woven at Salawas and the hospitality of the Bishnois.
- On the banks of the serene Guda Bishnoi Lake where peacocks, rabbits, the fiercely protected, endangered blackbuck (Indian antelope) and chinkara (gazelle) graze, guests have the rare opportunity to witness striking Demoiselle Cranes who migrate every year from Mongolia and Eurasia.

Things to Do

Sand Dune Gala

- The undulating sand dunes of the Great Indian Desert a.k.a the Thar Desert are one of Jodhpur's most captivating attractions.
- Known as 'giant ripples', these humongous, mobile mounds of soft, warm and golden sand are like mirages and make for the perfect canvas to luxuriate in a desert celebration like no other.
- Begin with camel rides and jeep drives that let you tumble softly through the rolling sand, an experience that's heady and rhythmic.
- The thrills are followed by a rousing folk music and dance performance – you will find it irresistible to kick off your shoes and join the dancers on the sand – and a lavish barbeque dinner as moonlight begins to descend onto this magical landscape.
